HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED IN THIS WEEK'S PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Nominations sought for community service award

Every town, every city is blessed with a handful of individuals who selflessly donate their time, energy and hard work to make their community a better place for everyone to live. Such individuals often give this time and energy for years without the gratitude and recognition they deserve.

In order to recognize such outstanding individuals, the Pulaski County Chamber of Commerce awards the H.J. Halleck Community Service Award to one deserving individual each year. Current nominations for the award are being accepted through Feb. 28.

Criteria for the award are as follows:

- The award recipient must be a resident of Pulaski County.
- The recipient should have an identifiable and successful record of service to the community in a variety of public service endeavors.
- The recipient may be male or female of any adult age.
- The recipient need not be retired.
- Posthumous awards will not be given.

If someone is deserving of this prestigious award, call, stop by or email the chamber of commerce for a nomination form at pulaskiccoc@gmail.com or call 574-242-2750.

The recipient of this award will be honored at the annual meeting/Halleck Award Recognition Banquet.

DAR award recipients

The Metamonong Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) is proud to recognize two local area high school seniors as the recipients of this year's Good Citizens Award.

Jerod Glasford, of West Central High School, and Emma Eldridge, of Winamac Community High School, were selected by teachers and peers for this award based on their leadership, service and patriotism. Each student completed an essay titled "Our American Heritage and Our Responsibility for Preserving It." The chapter's state finalist is Jerod Glasford.

The DAR Good Citizens Award and Scholarship Contest was created in 1934 to encourage and reward the qualities of good citizenship. The Metamonong Chapter congratulates these seniors on their outstanding accomplishments.

Rep. Gutwein works to reduce government red tape

The House Select Committee on Government Reduction, Jan. 16, passed State Rep. Douglas Gutwein's (R-Francesville) bill that would work to consolidate and streamline state agency reporting requirements.

Gutwein, chair of the committee, said this bill would consolidate many standalone reports published annually by state government offices into more accessible agency-level annual reports. Gutwein said these reforms would streamline administrative operations and improve public transparency.

"As chair of the House Select Committee on Government Reduction, I have worked diligently to find areas in which we can consolidate and streamline state government reporting requirements," Gutwein said. "With tremendous assistance from the Holcomb Administration, we compiled agency-by-agency input over the summer to identify various ways to increase government efficiencies while maintaining public accountability. That detailed feedback served as the starting point for this legislation."

According to Gutwein, House Bill 1003 would repeal eight chapters, 98 sections and 30 reports in the Indiana Code that are outdated, unused or duplicative. The bill would also consolidate 35 standalone reports or reporting requirements into more accessible formats.

Gutwein used the example that some reports that are generated by different agencies are done on a quarterly basis. Those reports will now be done annually and merged with other requirements. He said many times the reports that are generated are not even read.

"What we have done this year is a good start," Gutwein said. "It costs time and money to generate those reports. If nobody is reading them then why should they do them."

Gutwein's bill passed the third reading in the House. For more information visit iga.in.gov.

Gutwein represents House District 16, which includes all of Pulaski County and portions of Fulton, Jasper, Newton and Starke counties.
