Local Contested Candidate Profiles

Candidates who were opposed in the primary election were given an opportunity to answer questions regarding how they feel about certain topics. The Journal sent two letters to the candidates regarding the questions, once in February before COVID-19 restrictions and once in April. Other ways the Journal tried to get in touch with candidates were text messages, phone calls and a social media post. Some candidates simply did not respond.

MEDARYVILLE TOWN COUNCIL

Suzanna J. Wilcoxon (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Medaryville Town Council?

My primary reason for serving as a town council member has been and still is to help make Medaryville a good place to live and raise a family.

• What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing?

The top issue has been and will continue to be maintaining and/or repaving streets, repairing and replacing the water and sewer systems and providing the town with adequate police and fire protection.

• How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

The recent improvements (repaving streets, new sidewalks and the construction of a new water tower) have only been possible through state and federal grants. The park, on the corner of Main Street and U.S. 421 was made possible through a grant provided by Community Foundation of Pulaski County. In order to remain fiscally responsible, it will be necessary to continue making a long-term plan for the upkeep and replacement of the town’s water and sewer systems, streets and other assets while looking for grants to fund future projects.

See the local contested candidate profiles for those candidates running for Pulaski County Council, Pulaski County Commissioner District 1, Pulaski County Commissioner District 2 and Pulaski County Auditor on pages 6 and 7.

WINAMAC TOWN COUNCIL

Judy Heater (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Winamac Town Council?

I have been involved in serving the Town of Winamac for well over 20 years as clerk-treasurer and as a member of our town council. It has been a pleasure to work for and listen to the people of Winamac, all 2,400 plus of them, and I would consider it a pleasure to continue serving them for another four years as a member of the Winamac Town Council.

• What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing?

Other than the very obvious financial problems we are facing, the most important issue facing us currently is the need to keep everyone safe and healthy during the current pandemic crisis.

• How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

In order to keep the town fiscally responsible, we need to continue to monitor our expenses, cut back where we can and hope the problem that caused this financial crunch is on the way to being addressed and fixed, or, as fixed as it can be. The town has always kept to a pretty clear cut and tight budget and we are doing even more tightening of our belts. We have been very fortunate in receiving some pretty healthy grants to address some of our larger expenses in the last several years, most of which have been dictated by the need to upgrade in order to remain compliant with state or federal guidelines.

Jim Watkins (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Winamac Town Council?

I am running for the town council because it is a privilege to represent the people of this community. There are several projects I would like to see completed. The downtown revitalization project excites me the most which will be starting in the near future. I also maintain an open door policy for suggestions or feedback.

• What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing?

Some issues facing the council are working within our means, keeping our present infrastructure in place without increasing taxes, utilities rates affordable, roads and sidewalks repaired or replaced while keeping within our proposed budgets.

• How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

We have to spend wisely within our budgets, work with the county and try to re-establish our LIT funding for the town but also be open to new ideas that are cost saving opportunities. This is why I am asking for your vote.

Judy Heater

Tom J. Murray (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Winamac Town Council?

I believe in supporting the community however and whenever I can. To me, this includes speaking up on the critical issues we all face, like the financial well-being of the town.

• What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing? How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

I plan to keep the town fiscally responsible by holding each department accountable for their expenditures. By doing so, the council can continue the betterment of our community for our children and grandchildren long after we’re gone. I would greatly appreciate your support in the upcoming election for Winamac Town Council.

Tom J. Murray

Daniel Vanaman (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Winamac Town Council?

I am Daniel Vanaman. I am a past town council member. I believe I have the experience to help the town. I know equipment and roads worked for INDOT for 38 years.

• What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing? How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

Top issues are doing what is best for the town citizens. Trying to maintain a balanced budget. Yes I will vote for doing what is best for the town. I have lived in town since 1986.

I was the one who helped to get our dog park in the park. I saw a need and a place for it. We need to have something for our youth to do or they won’t stay in our town.

Daniel Vanaman

Terry Pratt (R)

• Why have you chosen to run for the Winamac Town Council? What do you see as the top issue that council members are facing? How as a council member do you plan to keep the town fiscally responsible?

I have chosen to run for town council because I want to help lead our community to growth. Choices that I make will be based on one simple thing: what will benefit our community and its residents the most. Sometimes growth means making tough choices and I do well with putting emotions aside to make the best logical and beneficial decisions. I don’t know what it will take to help the growth of Winamac but I can promise that if elected I will do my best to figure it out and push to make it happen.

Local Contested Candidate Profiles

COUNTY COUNCIL

Ken Boswell (R)

• How would you ensure the county is being fiscally responsible?

Fiscal responsibility is a large part of the county council’s role. I would continue to analyze each departmental budget, by working directly with officeholders and department heads through the budget process. Next, I would work with members of the council to determine a standard of practice in managing budgets. One possible solution would be to wait until July 1, before approving any additional appropriation requests. During the remainder of the year, I would look for opportunities to encourage economic growth.

• Why are you the best candidate for one of the three county council at-large seats?

I’ve been honored to serve as a county councilman for four years and began serving as president of the county council in January. Having served previously as a commissioner gives me the unique advantage of understanding the responsibilities of both boards and opportunities, they must complement each other. I’ve been an active member when serving and have even had the pleasure of serving on the Pulaski County Economic Development Committee (CDC). I believe there’s an opportunity for Pulaski County officials to grow educationally in attending further local government education and working toward more parliamentary training for our elected boards.

• What do you think is the top issue facing the county council at this time, courthouse, taxes, etc.?

It’s difficult to answer that question because I don’t think we have a single, top issue. Many of our issues tie together. Certainly, the courthouse/justice center and taxes are hot button issues, but the council has to weigh all issues equally because they are interconnected. These are uneasy times, and we don’t know what the world will look like in a week, in a month, or in a year, but I’m immensely proud of the way the county has come together to slow the COVID-19 pandemic. It shows that we can rise to meet challenges when we work together, and this same spirit can be used to approach the fiscal issues of our county. Prosperous days are ahead, but there is work to do. That’s why I’m asking for your vote. I’m ready to continue serving Pulaski County in achieving a better tomorrow.

Ken Boswell

Adam Loehmer (R)

• How would you ensure the county is being fiscally responsible?

Having the opportunity to run my own business, I have developed good financial skills. I know at the county level the numbers and the needs are larger but it is still the same principal. We need to make more than we spend. This is a problem for the county with declining population and some high earning jobs no longer in the county. I know after the yearly budget is set that things happen and needs come up. If I’m elected I know I would be coming into challenging times financially for the county, but I’m ready take on the challenges.

• Why are you the best candidate for one of the three county council at-large seats?

I feel I’m the best candidate because I want Pulaski County to be successful. My wife and I have chosen to raise our children here. We think it’s a great community for our children to grow up. The majority of our business is done in the county. With owning a business and being a husband and father of four it may appear that my plate is already full but I’m ready to add to my responsibilities to help Pulaski County succeed.

• What do you think is the top issue facing the county council at this time, courthouse, taxes, etc.?

I feel the top issue is getting our property taxes and income taxes in line. We all know our income taxes are too high and property taxes are lower than normal. I’m a property owner and no property owner wants to have higher taxes. We are going to have to make adjustments to the taxes. The county is on a losing path that needs to be corrected now. I’m not saying just working on taxes will fix the problems for the county but it’s a start.

Adam Loehmer

John Masterson (R)

• How would you ensure the county is being fiscally responsible?

For the county to be financially stable you must have an understanding on the inner workings of how budgets develop/work, asset verification, headcount/personnel accountability, P&L tracking, innovation, along with a one year, five year, 10 year and 20 year general growth plan, so financial sustainability is achievable. My experience, being part of a management team for two large U.S. operations with budgets in excess of $100 million and 200 plus employees, developed my leadership experience during the years which allowed my teams to grow. Know the why behind the what. Don’t ever spend unless you have all the information and know what the return on investment will be. Remember, when it’s your money being wasted, would you allow that trend to continue?

• Why are you the best candidate for one of the three county council at-large seats?

I’m very accessible and willing to listen, no matter what walk of life, political party, opinions, etc. you might have. I will always listen and discuss whatever issue you might have, good or bad. It is during those discussions, either side could have that moment of high influence and a solution to the topic being discussed can come from that conversation. I don’t shoot from the hip and will only deal with facts. If I know the answer, I will share it with you, if I don’t know the answer, I will find out what that answer is and get back to you in a timely manner. I’m not running for a political title. I am running to help a team make sure our county is financially stable and secure long into the future. If elected, I will be donating what ever funds have been allocated for a council at-large representative seat to a local charity.

• What do you think is the top issue facing the county council at this time, courthouse, taxes, etc.?

I believe the top issues the council are currently facing is lack of transparency, communication, municipality/business management experience and especially, not being able to work as a team. I’ve observed their meetings over the past year and the most recurrent issues I always observe are the lack of being prepared/follow up, failure to ask the hard questions, lack of understanding the agenda topics and making public comments that are not factual. When the discussion of taxes come up, one or maybe two current council members truly understand what is being discussed. Also, our county needs an administrator to manage the day to day operations, it would be nice to hear the county’s monthly management report from someone. How did the courthouse get to where it is today? Well, simply put, a failure to manage and project the future sustainability/growth for the courthouse, along with all of Pulaski County’s growth. The council needs to always be looking/thinking long term.

John Masterson

Steve Nellans (R)

• How would you ensure the county is being fiscally responsible?

My name is Steve Nellans, I have lived in Winamac for 21 years and my wife, Jo, is a lifelong resident of Pulaski County as well. We have two middle school children, a daughter and son, along with a daughter graduating from Indiana University–Bloomington this year. I am currently an emergency medical technician with 14 years of experience, the last six at a 911 service. To ensure fiscal responsibility I would try to help find logical and economical ways for county monies to be used that gives the strongest return on investment. While savings is always best, sometimes spending a little more today can save a lot in the future in terms of savings.

• Why are you the best candidate for one of the three county council at-large seats?

I feel I am the best for one of the three county council at-large seats due to understanding the need to use opportunities to educate myself about things by talking to different people about things like budgets, and how things affect people in and about the community. I also understand the need for continuously learning about changes and needs to know how to best help.

• What do you think is the top issue facing the county council at this time, courthouse, taxes, etc.?

I feel the top issues facing the county at this time are not just that of the courthouse and taxes, but everything facing and concerning the county such as the budget, liabilities, and assets.

Local Contested Candidate Profiles

COMMISSIONER DISTRICT 1

Maurice E. Loehmer (R)

- Why have you chosen to run for commissioner?

I have chosen to run for commissioner because as a business owner, I see how Pulaski County has provided me many opportunities. I now have the time and skills needed to be able to give back to the community so that others can continue to have their opportunities to succeed.

- What do you see as the top issue that the commissioners are facing?

I believe that the biggest challenge is the overall low morale of the county employees. Also creating a challenge is the inability for the commissioners and the council to work together and it has spilled over into other departments. As commissioner, I would like to work with all involved to try to raise morale and to see each other's point of view.

- How as a commissioner do you plan to keep the county fiscally responsible?

I would like to ask questions and seek understanding to make certain additional appropriations are minimized. I think it is important that each decision that is made is thought through first to see what impact it will have on both today and tomorrow.

Maurice E. Loehmer

Terry Young (R)

- Why have you chosen to run for commissioner?

I have chosen to run for commissioner because I am concerned about the future of our county and its residents. I have served in this capacity before and feel that my experience will be needed to face current and future issues. I have faced challenges in the past concerning our county and I have always stood up for the residents of Pulaski County.

- What do you see as the top issue that the commissioners are facing?

Among the issues facing us are a declining population, increasing drug addiction, a high income tax rate, and a lack of leadership and representation from some of our current elected officials. All of these issues are of importance. The people of Pulaski County want a safe and thriving community.

- How as a commissioner do you plan to keep the county fiscally responsible?

I left the office of county commissioner in 2016, leaving a balanced budget. Since then, spending has skyrocketed. Working with department heads and the county council, we have to work together to bring spending back under control. We must prioritize projects and purchases before making any fiscal decisions. We must make smart choices and not continue to be reckless with taxpayer dollars.

Terry Young

COMMISSIONER DISTRICT 2

Merv Lameron (R)

- Why have you chosen to run for commissioner?

I have chosen to run for commissioner because I believe that I can help make a difference in our community. Having lived in Pulaski County my whole life and owned a business here, many things have changed over the years, but whether it's good or bad, the people of Pulaski County always stick together to help one another and that is a county that I would love to stand up for.

- What do you see as the top issue that the commissioners are facing?

I think the top issue that the current commissioners are facing right now is the COVID-19 epidemic. There are many different aspects to this issue, but if we can all come together as a community, we can overcome this fight. The people of Pulaski County are overcomers.

- How as a commissioner do you plan to keep the county fiscally responsible?

The county is like a business, and from a business standpoint, you cannot spend out more than you are taking in. The county commissioners and county council need to be able to work together and be very attentive to what we are spending the funds on. We need to use common sense and make sure that whatever spending is being asked, is absolutely necessary.

Merv Lameron

AUDITOR

Tim Hoffa (R)

- As auditor of the fiscal body, what do you see as the county's greatest challenge in providing cost-effective, efficient services that help to move our community forward?

The key to moving forward, is finding innovative ways to save money, bring in money and working together as one cohesive unit. Working with each officeholder, determine what is making sense and what could be better managed by all. We have many unique and invaluable resources, in all our employees that work for the county, and we should be better utilizing that potential and knowledge. There are also other county officeholders and statehouse professionals that may have that one missing piece of information that we need to turn things around. And, if we do not take the opportunity to reach out to them and ask questions, we risk losing that valuable missing piece. If I am elected to be the next county auditor, I intend on taking full advantage of every resource that is out there to help put our county back together and moving forward.

- Why are you the best candidate for the position?

The county auditor is responsible for a wide variety of tasks, that require structured discipline, organization and an ability to think outside of the normal. While working with the state for the past 10 years, I have learned to see things through a different perspective and to work hand in hand with those that bring the best out of yourself and others. By looking at all the daily tasks and procedures, while using all the valuable resources our county and state has to offer, I can bring that structure and dedication to the taxpayers and citizens of Pulaski County. I plan to listen, not just hear, what is being said and work tirelessly to ensure that our county is going in the right direction. I have the necessary skill sets, i.e. accounting, management, multi-tasking and the desire and ability to be the next Pulaski County Auditor.

- What changes would you like to see occur at the auditor's office?

Anytime a new officeholder comes in, it brings a certain change. Whether it is a change of personality, the way they do things, or the way they handle and maintain the daily duties and tasks of the office, there is inevitably going to be change. Working together from day one and embracing that change, you avoid the stigma of the negativity of change and make it positive. When you start something new, you will always look at what is working and what may not be. You take the things that are working and build upon those, and you look at the things that are not working and together you find a better solution and improve as a team. The biggest change I would be bringing is the way change is handled and dealt with. Change is not always a bad thing when it is done for the right reason.

Tim Hoffa

Laura Wheeler (R)

- As auditor of the fiscal body, what do you see as the county's greatest challenge in providing cost-effective, efficient services that help to move our community forward?

The county's greatest challenge is technology. After serving the county as auditor for three years, I am most concerned by our lack of technology in this 21st century. Some of the work in this office is still done manually and with time consuming, cumbersome spreadsheets. We need software to change this. The upfront cost can seem daunting, especially when the county is concerned with spending. However, after the upfront cost, the county will see more effective public service and use of man-hours, leading to more efficient use of county funds.

- Why are you the best candidate for the position?

The auditor's office is one of the most challenging offices in county government with an approximate learning curve of six years. In the past three years, I have shown the willingness to learn and the strength to meet the challenges presented by this office. Since starting in 2017, I have reduced my staff by one, the only department that has reduced staff. This is partially due to the increased technology in the auditor's office, and the ability to use what software we have to its fullest capability. I have made progress and would like to continue making Pulaski County government efficient and cost effective.

- What changes would you like to see occur at the auditor's office?

I have already started the process of bringing the auditor's office into the 21st century with technology. My vision is to have everything online, accessible to anyone who would need it, from employees to researchers to taxpayers. It is my hope to be paperless by the end of a second term which will reduce paper product cost and storage needs. I will continue to work on this as long as I am in office.

Laura Wheeler

Chuck Mellon (R)

- Why have you chosen to run for commissioner?

This may seem like a selfish reason, but I hope it is shared by many residents of Pulaski County. Darlene and I have two children that have moved back to Pulaski County to raise their family. It's my mission to assure them it was the right decision, by doing what I can to influence the growth and prosperity in the county in which we live. This will not be a simple task. As commissioners, we'll need to gather all the available resources and diligently work together to make a difference. Time is precious. Residents of the county have been locked into a "status quo" mentality. But as we know, there is no status quo. If we are not keeping pace with the world around us and planning for the future, we are falling behind. How do we reverse the direction of our dwindling population and limited revenue in Pulaski County? I hope you share in this mission.

- What do you see as the top issue that the commissioners are facing?

Before answering directly, let me first discuss the terminology used in the question. When I hear the term "issue," I immediately think "problem." My view on an "issue" is that it began as a challenge that was not dealt with in a timely and aggressive manner. Currently, the issue is financial stability of Pulaski County. This issue bleeds into many other issues. Whether it be the remodeling of a courthouse, tax rates, budget cuts, the list goes on. This is not to place blame on anyone. On many occasions, a "challenge" gets passed on to the next term of commissioners, or the next budget year. Challenges need to be addressed before they turn into issues. I foresee a future challenge being the effects of COVID-19 on Pulaski County. Will we be prepared to deal with this? We know it is coming.

- How as a commissioner do you plan to keep the county fiscally responsible?

First, we need to get to the point where the county is fiscally responsible. We are no where close to this at the current time. I attended a commissioners' meeting where it was stated that the county will be out of cash in 2021. I believe COVID-19 will place even greater stress on the budget. The scope of this issue is great. Currently, professional assistance has been sought to create options to consider. But that is for the now. The challenge is preparing for the future. The focus needs to be on the economic growth which will translate into greater revenue. You can only cut a budget so much; taxes are high; do not want to cut programs. Creating revenue through economic development, however many ways it may appear, is the answer. To have a sustainable financial plan, you must have a county economy that continues to grow.
