HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED in this week's PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Excessive heat brings Pulaski County to boiling point

Megan Galbreath

June felt a lot more like July in Pulaski County last week as near record temperatures soared to a high of 97 degrees and heat indices exceeded 100 degrees.

The excessive heat warning was in effect from noon on Tuesday, June 14 until midnight on Thursday, June 16. According to the National Weather Service, afternoon and evening heat indices in northern Indiana were between 100 and 110 degrees with full sun, which made temperatures feel even hotter.

Extremely hot temperatures such as these are projected to return, so it's important to know what to do to keep you and your loved ones safe.

In instances of extreme heat, remember to drink plenty of fluids, stay in an air-conditioned room, wear lightweight and loose fitting clothing when possible, stay out of the sun, and check up on relatives and neighbors. Young children and pets should never be left unattended in vehicles under any circumstances. It is also essential to know the signs and symptoms of heat exhaustion and heatstroke. Heat stroke is an emergency! Call 911.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the signs of heatstroke and heat exhaustion are:

- | Heatstroke | Heat Exhaustion |
|---|------------------------------|
| • High body temperature (103 degrees or higher) | • Heavy sweating |
| • Hot, red, dry, or damp skin | • Cold, pale and clammy skin |
| • Fast, strong pulse | • Fast, weak pulse |
| • Headache | • Nausea or vomiting |
| • Dizziness | • Muscle cramps |
| • Nausea | • Tiredness or weakness |
| • Confusion | • Dizziness |
| • Losing consciousness | • Headache |
| | • Fainting |
