Retire Your Flag With Honor

When your flag is no longer worthy of display please bring it to us, and we will properly dispose of it following the United States Flag Code.

Your flag will honor a veteran by being draped across them at the time of cremation. It is a fitting tribute to veterans and a patriotic way to “retire” aged flags. Donation drop boxes will be available at each of our locations. There is no charge for this service.

THANK YOU

Pulaski County 4-H Buyer's Group

I would like to thank the following businesses and individuals who donated to the Pulaski County 4-H Buyer's Group. With your generous support we were able to purchase and process animals from our local 4-H'ers. All of the processed meat will be donated to the food pantries in Pulaski County to assist families in need that belong to our community.

HERE'S WHAT YOU MISSED in this week's PULASKI COUNTY JOURNAL

Newly renovated history room honors beloved Pulaski County library patron and philanthropist Dee Galbreath

Earlier this week, Pulaski County Public Library announced the opening of a newly renovated local history room honoring beloved patron and philanthropist Delores "Dee" (Brown) Galbreath. Dee was a co-founder of Galbreath Inc. and Galfab Inc.

Made possible by a financial gift from Steve and Debbie Galbreath to the library, the new local history room pays homage to his mother in both design and meaning. "I would bet that just about anyone who knew her saw a book in her hand at some point. Whether sitting on the porch at her home on South Monticello Street or having lunch at one of the local restaurants, she was such an avid reader," Steve shared.

"The generous donation from the Galbreath family honors Steve's late mother by incorporating many themes from Dee's loving home," stated MacKenzie Ledley, executive director of Pulaski County Public Library. "Working with an architect, we sought to recreate the comforting feeling of Dee's home-especially those found in her living room and kitchen."

Visitors to the local history room will first pass through a paned glass door that is a near replica of one of the home's dining room doors. The room's baseboard, ceiling, and trim are exact replicas of the home's woodwork, and the study tables have been crafted based on the inlay pattern of the home's doors.

A large colonial map and wallpaper from Colonial Williamsburg are prominently featured in Dee's home and similarly introduced into the library after working with a cartographer at the Library of Congress to procure a map of the same era.

The wall covering in the local history room follows the same design idea but features reproductions from the Galbreath Family art collection of historic Winamac locations. These images represent the family's deep affinity for their community and respect for its history.

Additional design elements include an engraved "G" in the fireplace. This is a symbolic nod to the Galbreath family's contributions to the community over their lifetime.

"The Galbreath and Brown families were early settlers in Pulaski County and have been an integral part of its history and success," added Ledley. "This makes the history room a perfect place to house the library's extensive collection of genealogical holdings, including the Galbreath and Brown genealogies, along with over 4,500 items available to interested researchers."

In addition to the library's digital resources, the renovated space will also feature an updated microfilm reader and include genealogical items from the library's physical collection.

"We have genealogical items from different states, nearly every county in Indiana, and many local family histories. The library's collection is a multi-generational project and interests many genealogical researchers."

"Dee was an avid reader and a regular patron of the Pulaski County Public Library. She also had an extensive home library of her own," added Ledley. "Her nostalgic and generous spirit, not to mention her love for books, live on in this room, and we are so grateful for the opportunity to share this dedicated space with our community and library patrons."

Forthcoming additions to the room include window treatments and a built-in bookcase. "We are also working with the Galbreath Family Foundation to develop a space in the room to provide a rotating display of Dee's antique collection."
